ACTION IS LEAST BIT IRREGULAR

Reason For no Court Calendar Being Made Out For Next Term is Not Plain.

REPORTER QUESTIONS CLERK

It's Not Hard to Understand When it Will be Remembered Nov. 8 Comes Soon.

There is a slight irregularity in the doings of the circuit court just at present, but it's no fault of the court, namely Judge Sparks. It is all due to the election laws in this State in regard to circuit court judges, which provides that the heads of such departments shall be elected every six years. This happens to be one of the times when the six-year period rolls around, hence the irregularity.

It all came about in this manner: a reporter called at the clerk of the court's office and asked to see the court calendar for the next term of court which convenes in November. The deputy clerk replied "There ain't goin' to be no court calendar."

Of course the reporter had to have an explanation, as it has always been the custom of Judge Will Sparks, he being a well regulated judge, to act according to the old time custom, that of making out a court calendar for the coming term of court at the close of the term. It was plainly noticeable that there was something out of the ordinary in the air, since no court calendar was to be found, hunt where the reporter might.

The clerk recalled to the mind of the reporter that between this time and the time for the opening of the next term of court, the eighth of November would roll around, when all men walk to the little booth and voice their sentiments in the form of writing on a ballot. Of course, Judge Sparks feels like he will be re-elected, but then he does not care to place that much confidence in himself, so that he can make out a court calendar before he is chosen. He might be making out a calendar for another judge, although he can not see it that way just at present and the other judge might not like it that way. So the court calendar for the November term of court will not be made out until the court convenes.

The November term will offer several cases of interest to local people. Several criminal suits will come up for a hearing as will many civil suits.

RUSH COUNTY IS IN AFFECTED DISTRICT

Mad Dog Near Gwynneville is Finally Killed After it Had Bitten Other Canines.

INCLUDE DECATUR AND SHELBY

The mad-dog scare in Shelby county has not yet reached an end and from present indications it will continue to be known as the "affected" district, this name being given Shelby, Decatur and Rush counties a few weeks ago by Dr. J. P. Simonds of Indianapolis, says the Shelbyville Republican.

The dog on the Lee Benefiel place, near Gwynneville, went mad yesterday morning and it was found necessary to kill the animal with a shotgun. Before the canine was killed, however it bit a number of other dogs and they are running at large in that section of the county.

DEPUTY WARDEN LOOMS UP AGAIN

A. M. Gallion, Who Figured in a Few Escapades Here, Appears Down at Shelbyville.

HAS BEEN IN MUCH TROUBLE

A. M. Gallion, one of the deputy fish and game commissioners, who is quite well known in this city and county, was here Monday night, says the Shelbyville News. He registered at the Hotel Ray. Mr. Gallion did not make known the purpose of his visit, but he seldom comes here unless it is on official business. Since his last stay in this city he has had all kinds of rough experiences in his line of work and newspaper reports have mentioned that he has been shot twice while trying to make arrests of violators of the fish and game laws. He has about recovered, however, from his wounds.

Son of James Harrell While in a Ball Game, Hears of Father Being Killed by Train.

WAS SEVERE SHOCK TO HIM

Unknown to him that his father was a corpse, Donald Harrell of Sandusky, a member of the Greensburg high school ball team, stepped to the bat Saturday afternoon, intending to line out a shot one, when he was told the sad news that his father's life had been crushed out in a railway accident, says the Greensburg News. James Harrell had gone to Harper to buy apples, and the son, who is a bright, intelligent lad, had no reason to think but that he was well, or at least alive. The news coming as it did, was a severe shock to the young man, who had the deep sympathy of all there in his dark hour of crushing grief.

Stated to Jury in Case in Hancock Court That Knightstown Man Has Forged Checks.

AND HAS SINCE DISAPPEARED

Defense in Note Suit Brings Out Some Evidence That is Startling and Unexpected.

The suit on a note by the Citizen's National bank of Knightstown against Mrs. Luceena J. Watt was begun Monday in the circuit court, says the Greenfield Reporter. The demand is for $300 which includes attorney fee of $50, and interest since August 2, 1909.

The plaintiff offers the note as grounds for the suit, and that it was given to secure $170, paid by the Wilkinson Elevator company to Harry J. Watt, a son of the defendant and who secured the money from the company by the sale of growing wheat on his mother's farm, which he claimed belonged to him. The note was endorsed and sold to the Citizen's National bank by Mrs. Wilkinson and has not been paid.

Harry Watt, it was said in the opening statement to the jury, forged several checks about Knightstown and is now an absconder.

The defense is that the note was given by Mrs. Watt under stress of worry and intimidation. She contends that Wilkinson secured one of the checks forged by her son and threatened to have him arrested for that and for securing money under false pretense, if she did make the account good.

Under these conditions, the answer to the complaint sets out that she signed it on Sunday, August 1.

WOMAN FALLS AND BREAKS HIP BONE

Mrs. Stewart, 80 Years Old, Widow of Oliver Stewart, Suffers Injury.

MAY NEVER FULLY RECOVER

Mrs. Stewart, widow of the late Oliver Stewart, a civil war veteran, and prominent citizen of Arlington, fell at her home in Arlington this morning and suffered a severe fracture of the hip bone. She suffered much pain from the accident and will be forced to lie in bed for several weeks. Mrs. Stewart caught her foot in the carpet at her home, which caused her to lose her balance and fall. Her physician fears that she may never fully recover from the accident on account of her extreme old age. She is almost eighty years of age and the fact that she must remain in bed for several weeks, while the bone is knitting, causes her relatives grave concern.

She is the mother of Mrs. L. B. Davis, whose husband operates the leading drug store in Arlington.

FIRST CLAIM PAID.

The first death claim as a result of the Kingsland wreck on the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley traction line has been paid by Fred Fahsing, claim agent for the company, $800 being given to William Crouse, father of Ernest Crouse, as wages which the father would have received until the twenty-first birthday anniversary of the boy, and $300 to W. M. Walbert, administrator of the estate, as funeral expenses.

—Dr. C. P. Shewey returned to his home in Attica yesterday after spending Sunday with his uncle, Dr. C. H. Parsons and wife, Mrs. Shewey and young daughter, Grace Anna, remained for a visit here.

ACCEPTS CALL AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

The Rev. Earl Wilfley, Well and Favorably Known Here, Goes to Washington, D. C.

TALKED AT MEN'S BIG MEETING

The Rev. Earl Wilfley, formerly of Crawfordsville, who, it will be remembered, made such a decided impression on a monster audience at one of the Men's Big Meetings three years ago, has accepted a call to one of the most fashionable churches in Washington, D. C. The Rev. Mr. Wilfley was generally known as the actor-preacher and upheld his reputation whenever he made an address. He will be remembered here for years as his sermon was one of the most appreciated ones which has been delivered here in many years. The Rev. Mr. Wilfley has resigned as pastor of the Christian church and has been in Lyceum work for the past few years. He will take up his work in the national capitol about the middle of next month.

COUNTERFEIT IS VERY RARE WORK

Henry Newby, Former Knightstown Man, Has Troubles as President of Pasadena Bank.

TEN DOLLAR BILL IS MADE

Which is Said to be Best Piece of Workmanship in Recent Years —Warning Issued.

Henry Newby, formerly of Knightstown, now president of the Pasadena National Bank, of Pasadena, Cal., is having his troubles over a new counterfeit $100 National bank note that has made its appearance, says the New Castle Times. It is said to be one of the best counterfeit $10 bills of recent years, but it has been discovered by the watchful secret service.

The note is such a fine piece of workmanship that Chief Wilkie of Washington, D. C., in a warning sent broadcast from the National Capital, declares the bill will give the public a great deal of trouble, particularly on the Pacific coast.

It is composed of two pieces of paper, a front and back stuck together, with the silk fibers between. It has the portrait of President McKinley, and one of the marks which will identify it to the public is a bad break in the background under McKinley's left shoulder.

The face of the note is a little lighter than the genuine. The etching and rough work on the back are badly done. It is in the series of 1908, bearing the check letter "F." Chief Wilkie advises that notes of that issue be carefully examined before acceptance.

Mr. Newby has many relatives and friends in New Castle and Henry county who will be much interested in this matter and who will hope that his bank will not lose by the counterfeit. Mr. Newby was here about a year ago and visited relatives and friends while en route to Washington and New York City on a business trip. He was accompanied East at that time by his cousin, George Barnard, who now holds the title of Mayor Barnard.

LOOK AT BOILERS AT RICHMOND TODAY

Mayor Black and City Council Have Difficult Task in Deciding on Equipment.

WILL INVESTIGATE THOROUGHLY

The city council accompanied by Mayor Black went to Richmond this morning. The purpose of the visit was to look at the boilers now in use by the light plant of that city. The proposition of installing new boilers is giving the city officials a great deal of concern and they are determined to investigate thoroughly the different boilers they have under consideration, before taking action on the matter. The installation of new boilers will mean the expenditure of a large sum of money and the council does not want to spend this money experimenting with boilers of which they know nothing.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

The Republicans of Richland township will hold a convention next Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the Richland school house.

HARRY COLTER, Committeeman.

As an insurgent this man Deitz has Senator LaFollette beat to a frazzle.

It is pointed out that the Democratic party has been a little lax in redeeming its platform pledges on the tariff question. For thirty-five years, or ever since Tilden's time, the Democrats have demanded a tariff for revenue only, but their representatives in Congress never responded to the demand when they were in control of the lawmaking power of the government.

Our Democratic friends are trying to charge the high cost of living to the Republican party. How do they propose to remedy this without disturbing the wage-earners, the farmers, the planters and business men generally in the enjoyment of present advantages?

How will they do it? Make the purchasing power of the wage-earners less, thereby decreasing the demand for things they would eat and wear, thus forcing the farmer, the planter or the manufacturer to cut down his price? How else can it be done? That is the way it was done in 1893. Is that the way the manufacturer, the mechanic, the laborer, the farmer and the business men want it done again? Put the Democratic party in power and it will be.

Joe Christman Gets $25 For Taking Most Heats at Fair.

Winning two races in two days with the same horse is the record which Joe Christman holds. Driving J. C. The local horseman received twenty-five dollars in gold from the fair authorities for winning more heats than any other driver at the fair this year. It will be remembered that J. C. Patchen seemed to be hoodooed at the fair when he started, but he has been in good luck since hobbies have been placed on him.

This show promises to be one of the biggest held in eastern Indiana, and can hardly help but being a success, as Charles Keaton is the president. Wolcott Drug Store guarantees ZEMO, a clean liquid preparation for external use to rid the skin of the germ life that causes the trouble? One application will relieve the itching and often times one bottle is sufficient to cure a minor case of eczema.

ZEMO is recognized as the cleanest and most popular treatment for eczema, pimples, dandruff and all other forms of skin or scalp affections whether on infant or grown person. AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will offer a Biograph film, "A Summer Tragedy" tonight. Nerve is a most valuable asset, and Clarence had it in abundance. Getting a week's vacation, he lies himself to the seashore, where he registers as a millionaire. Here he meets Mabel, who poses as an heiress. He points to his private yacht out at anchor, while she tells of her palace by the sea. Each thinks the other the real article, so he proposes; she accepts. Vacation time up, they must part, but parting is such sweet sorrow, and they swear eternal constancy. Their dream, however, is rudely disturbed, for when next they meet she finds him tending the soda fountain at a drug store, while he finds her doing out "ham-and" in a cheap restaurant.

tion. He gives high class impersonations, including straight Hebrew and Italian. The comedian will make an entire change of costume and makeup for each character on the stage in full view of the audience. A new illustrated song will be rendered.

"The Climax." Mr. Eward as written special soloist at the Star Grand theater, pleased large audiences at the theater last night. His singing of the one piece was highly appreciated and expressions concerning the excellent character of his voice and the manner in which he rendered the solo were heard on all sides. He will appear again tonight and for the last time in a much-talked-of song, "The Song of the Soul," as sung in "The Climax." Mr. Eward has written several songs, which he sings.

TOGETHER FOR PROGRESS.

Differences within the party were manifested in the two sessions of the present congress and yet never in its history has the Republican party passed and become responsible for as much useful and progressive legislation. So while issues will doubtless arise between members of a Republican majority as to the details of further legislation, the party as a whole will show itself in the future, as in the past, practical and patriotic in subordinating individual opinions in order to secure real progress.—W. H. Taft.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

BY C.N. & A.M. WILLIAMSON

"They think you're some fly reporter makin' notes or a swell doin' the night lights," said Bill. "They don't like you much, but they won't bother you neither, only some chap may say, 'What queer things you see when you haven't got your gun.' If he does don't take notice; that's all."

Loveland promised forbearance, but his patience was not tried. In his turn, which came when his nose had turned a pale lilac with cold and the silk clad insteps above his pumps were slowly congealing, he received a tin of hot coffee and a roll. Food and drink were so good, as Bill said, "filled such a long felt want" that Val booted them greedily, only to yearn for more when both were gone. But etiquette was strictly preserved in Herald square. No one asked for a second helping, and each applicant when he had drained his coffee to the last drop walked away without a word unless it were a "thank you."

"Now, ho for the Bat hotel!" exclaimed Bill cheerfully. "It's a goodish step, but as for me after that grub I feel like I could do a sprint round the world."

Loveland was refreshed, too, and more than ever inclined to look on the experience as an adventure over which he would laugh tomorrow night. But he did not intend to forget Bill Willing when he forgot the troubles through which Bill was his pilot. He must do something for the poor chap, he said to himself, and gloved with hot coffee and a sense of warm generosity.

Shakespeare, who had shared his master's roll and lapped the last spoonful of coffee, was an incredibly small black animal of somewhat moth-eaten texture, who in form rather re-

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed By a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes at the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits The Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." For sale by F. B. Johnson.

sembled a grasshopper, but his gentle eyes, curiously like his master's, beamed with affection.

"We approach the castle doors, my lord," grandiloquently announced Bill, little guessing that his jesting way of address was that to which Loveland was accustomed from his inferiors.

Val started from the reverie in which he had been walking at his companion's side like a mechanical figure. He waked to find himself in a brilliantly illuminated street like a tenth rate imitation of Broadway, lined with lighted shops, gaudy restaurants and strange houses of entertainment.

"This is the Bowery," Bill mentioned with pride.

They passed a tall building whose red front was pictorial with advertisements of wonders such as the world could not have survived had it seen them in the flesh.

"My old pitch," said Bill. "I painted the fat twins with their heads under their arms and the half zebra half camel. The fair one with golden locks, too, and the human bone are my shay doovers. What do you think of 'em, chum?"

"Chum" was filled with respectful admiration of the artist's imagination, if not his technique, and he replied fervently that the shay doovers in question were marvelous.

"Here's where I used to bark," went on Bill with a sigh for past glories. "They'd ought to give us free passes for a look round, if you'd like, but the boss ain't built that way, and there's nothin' to see anyhow. The freaks ain't what they're painted—couldn't be for a dime."

Willing paused in front of a building which loomed up dingy and ill lighted in comparison with its gaudy neighbors. A lamp over a low brown door drew sufficient attention to the announcement, printed in faded lettering, that this was "The Bat Hotel, For Gentlemen Only."

Bill Willing opened the door as if he were at home. "Come in, do," he said hospitably, and Loveland obeyed, to find himself standing directly at the foot of a long, dimly lit stairway, the steps of which were protected from the wear and tear of time and boots by strips of iron.

At the top was a closed door, and this open, Loveland was plunged into the life and movement of the Bat hotel, appropriately named for its night activities. Behind a grating which formed a small room stood the proprietor or manager of the establishment, ready to accept payment, allot beds, inscribe the names of new clients in a book and deal out keys of lockers or cubicles. This tiny office was cut out of a long, narrow room in which fifty or sixty men were sitting glancing over the newspapers or writing a last letter before they went to bed. They were grouped at one of several long tables that ran down the length of the room or assembled round a huge iron stove whose fat body was almost red hot.

As Bill easily leaned his elbows on a narrow shelf in front of the office grating, explaining his errand to the manager, Loveland wished himself back in the park again, half drowned in perfumed moon vapor, but it was too late. He was "in for it" now, he said to himself as Bill with a certain pride announced that "his friend" wanted a room. "A bed for mine," he went on pleasantly. "I'd be glad of $1, if it's free. I always sleep mighty well in $1."

Eighty-one was engaged, but Bill got another number to which he was accustomed, and then his friend's name was asked.

"Anything you like up to Edward VII. or down to J. Smith," whispered Mr. Willing as he moved away that Loveland might take his place at the grating.

Loveland hesitated for an instant and then gave the name of P. Gordon, one to which he had a right, among many others.

As Bill was competent to play host they were given their keys and allowed to find their own way to their quarters. Loveland's number was on the next floor, but Bill's cheaper lodging was higher up.

The cubicles were not numerous, for such accommodation de luxe was beyond the means, beyond even the ambition of a hundred out of the 160 nondescript men whom the Bat hotel sheltered each night. The row (called "Fifth avenue" by those who could not afford to sleep there) was partitioned off from a long room the size of the reading room below, but here, instead of tables and benches running along the walls, were beds, many beds, placed at small, irregular distances from each other. A faint light revealed them and the straight dark shapes of the lockers shared, half and half, by the sleepers whom Loveland could dimly see hunched up under their gray blankets.

Bill unlocked the door of Loveland's cubicle for him. "This is pretty complete, ain't it?" he asked in a whisper which respected the composure of others.

You can't loose. CLARK'S PURITY FLOOD is guaranteed.

"The beds are good enough for mine, but these rooms are fit for a lord."

It was a much humbled lord who shut himself up in the boasted magnificence of No. 15, there finding himself possessed of a narrow hospital bed spread with a gray blanket strongly scented with carbolic and just space enough in the case to undress if he chose. But for reasons which seemed good to him he did not choose.

Having bidden Bill good night without saying a word in disparagement of the Bat hotel (moved by a new unselfishness which would not for the world have hurt his friend's feelings), Loveland took off collar, necktie and shoes to roll himself up in the disinfected blanket. The bed was not more than three or four inches too short for his tall body, and though the mattress and pillow were as flat as stale jokes and hard as poverty, Val fell asleep.

Sleeping dreams came to him more real in seeming than any happenings of the strange nightmare day just passed. They were of storms at sea, of fighting in South Africa, and when light persistent tapping at the thin door wrenched him awake he thought he was being called for night sortie. "Yes! All right!" he muttered, sitting up dazedly. "I—I—what?"

"Sh! You'll rouse everybody," whispered Bill Willing's warning voice. "Unlock the door, will you?"

Still half asleep, Loveland blinked in the dim light, found the key in the lock and turned it. Like a shabby ghost Bill stole into the cubicle. "Mighty sorry to rout you out so early," he said in cautiously lowered tones, "but it's 6 o'clock, and in half an hour I've got to be at the restaurant to begin work. If you'll get ready and come along the boss's daughter, Miss Izzie, may take a shine to you and smuggle you a break."

"Her pa ain't there to say no." Fast when Alexander the Great, her pa, ain't there to say no?"

By the time that Bill had made his plans clear Loveland's drugged memory had begun to work. He recalled everything with the sensation of having opened a gate to set free a troop of grunting wild pigs. He was cold. The carbolic smell, which he hated, made him feel sick. His head throbbed as if ticks were being stuck into his temples and torn out again. His muscles were stiff, and he felt more tired than when he had lain down. It was disgusting to think that he had slept in his clothes in such a place as this and had nothing fresh to put on, and he loathed his own body because of the squalor in which it had consented to wallow.

How he longed for a cold bath in a great white porcelain tub, clean linen, neat tweeds and the luxurious silver toilet things, all of which would have been his morning portion at home or at the hotel he had left. But repinings only added to the hatefulness of his situation.

He made himself as neat as he could, did not grumble at the washing accommodations and moved with caution for fear of disturbing men whom twenty-four hours ago he would have considered no more than sheep. That was because he had been of the brotherhood, and, though he expected soon to give up his membership, he would never be able to forget. Men such as these with whom he had touched shoulders would never be things for him again.

COUNTY NEWS

Arlington.

Miss Nora Brown of Indianapolis is spending her vacation in town visiting her father Nicholas Brown and other friends.

N. R. Farlow is doing a land office business selling coal and stoves—people are preparing for winter.

Rev. Morrow, the recent pastor of the M. E. church has gone to his new charge in Edinburg. He has many friends here who regretted to see him leave.

Rev. Mr. Jones has come to take the pastorate and no doubt will find his work and church in fine order. Mr. Jones is said to be a fine speaker and lively pastor.

John S. Matthews has made arrangements with a New York house and is buying and shipping all the eggs he can get to that city.

There was no preaching services in town Sunday. Rev Conner of the Christian church is away holding a revival at another point.

Rev. B. M. Blount will preach in the Christian church next Sunday and the new pastor Rev. Jones will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday.

The bum element of Arlington has turned themselves loose and are tormenting the quiet people of the town tick tacking and making night hideous with noises. Some of them will be invited to appear before Rushville officials and explain why they commit such degradations. They made night hideous last Saturday at a home where a very sick child was at the point of death. Young men who do such things ought to get a good job at the work house until they learn to become good citizens. This would be a good time to incorporate the town and get under police protection.

Mrs. Silas Fleener passed away on Saturday night. She had been a great sufferer from cancer of the stomach for months. She leaves a husband and a number of children and many relatives.

There is to be a musical given in the assembly hall of the new school building by Indianapolis talent. The proceeds to go towards buying a piano for the school.

The beautiful little baby of Mr. and Mrs. Farlow has been dangerously sick but is now out of danger.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Rushville, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Newhouse is very ill at Mr. Newhouse's and little hopes are had for its recovery but they hope by the skillful treatment of Dr. Shanel will pull it through.

Geo. W. Offutt continues very ill and little hopes of him ever being any better.

W. H. Hysong and wife and Mrs. Allenharts have returned from a six week's visit with friends in Boone and Madison counties.

WHAT IS VINOL?

It Represents Twenty Years' Work of Two Eminent Chemists.

After twenty years of study two eminent French chemists discovered a method by which the alkaloids or medicinal elements of the cod's liver might be separated from the useless oil or grease, retaining all the good of cod liver oil and dispensing with the bad, as the oil has no medicinal value. These medicinal elements blended with tonic iron and a mild medicinal wine—make Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret medicine, as its ingredients are printed on every bottle, and in all cases where the healing, strengthening influence of cod liver is needed, Vinol will give better results, for it contains all the curative medicinal properties of cod liver oil, but without the oil, and it is easily assimilated and acceptable to the weakest stomach.

For all run-down, weakened conditions, and to cure chronic coughs, colds and bronchial troubles, Vinol is unexcelled. We sell it always with the understanding that if it does not do all we claim for it, we will refund the money paid us for it. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

It is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Dr. grove & Mullin.

The recent rains and wind storms have stopped the farmers from sowing wheat.

The death of John W. Williams, an old soldier of the war of 1860, has caused a shock to this township that people will not soon forget. He was in good health for 40 years he took down sick to die and nothing could stop the death summons. He was a man of sterling character and had many friends here in Arlington. Mrs. Williams left with her grandson for St. Louis to make her future home as she has no friends here.

Hutchinson & Son has recently purchased the old Preston Stanley homestead from W. P. Stanley for which they paid $165 per acre which is considered a very handsome price.

The Rushville Gas Co. has caused the Arlington people trouble and expense by notifying them that the gas would be cut off and then after making other arrangements letting it stay. This is the second time they have done this.

FOREST FIRES
STILL RAGING

Five Thousand Square Miles of Timber On Fire.

DEATH LIST ONLY GUESSED AT

While Estimates Place the Number of Dead at Eight Hundred, Observers Say It Will Reach Far Beyond That Number When Final Horrid Toll Is Checked Up—Practically Every Animal Was Burned to Death.

Estimated Dead—800.

Bodies Recovered—Nearly 200.

Homeless—5,000.

Property Loss—Over $100,000,000.

Towns and villages burned—Beaudette, Spooner, Roosevelt, Longworth, Swift, Pitt, Zippie, Solar, Cedar Spur, Gravel Pit Spur, Gracetown, Engle.

Partly Burned—Rainy River, Warroad, Sprague, International Falls, Pine Wood.

In Danger—Stratton, Fort Francis. Population of Area Burned—Over 12,000.

Rainy River, Ont., Oct. 11.—Five thousand people yesterday afternoon thought they would never see another sunrise. They were the 2,000 residents of this town and the 3,000 or more refugees quartered here. At 2 o'clock the wind sprang up and with a suddenness which was appalling, the town started to burn in a dozen or more places at once. The men, now organized rushed to the flames, but the velocity of the wind increased and their efforts, even with the recently installed high-pressure water system, proved of no avail. Then, with the same suddenness with which it had arisen, the wind dropped to a calm.

Late in the afternoon the wind rose again, breaking into timber belts which had previously escaped, and even burning over the ground which had been ravaged by the fire in the past two days. Today there are 5,000 square miles of timber on fire, if not a larger area, and reports of the finding of bodies are being received every few minutes. The dead will number 500 is the general belief, but General Superintendent Cameron of the Canadian Northern road, who has spent three days in the districts on fire, says the estimate is far too conservative, and in support of this statement is the fact that so far no systematic search has been made for bodies, although there are over one hundred in the morgue at Beaudette, and they have been taken from the vicinity of that town.

Three days ago fire burned over the thickly settled district between here and Stratton, but so far only a handful of refugees have not been heard of in any of the other towns.

Practically every animal in the country has been killed. The bodies of cattle, horses, dogs, cats and even wild animals litter the streets and trails. In Spooner a horse hitched to a light wagon was left tied to a telephone pole, but so fierce was the fire that there was not a vestige of either the wagon or harness left except the bit firmly gripped in the teeth.
